Cicero : In Catilinam (chapters 1-19)
A Running Vocabulary prepared by Terry Bird

[1] Quo usque tandem abutere, Catilina, patientia nostra?	1. quousque - how long ? till when ? tandem (at last) emphasizes the question 'how long, for goodness' sake... ? abutor (3, dep.), abusus sum + abl. - abuse abutere = abuteris, future
quam diu etiam furor iste tuus nos eludet? quem ad finem	quamdiu - how long ? etiam - still furor furoris (m) - madness iste, ista, istud - this of yours, that of yours eludo (3), elusi, elusum - deceive finis finis (m) - end, final point sese effrenata iactabit audacia? Nihilne te nocturnum	sese = se effrenatus - unrestrained, violent, unbridled iacto (1) - throw; flaunt, show off (OLD 12b) nihil is internal acc. with moverunt - in no way, not at all nocturnus (adj.) - (of the) night praesidium Palati, nihil urbis vigiliae, nihil timor populi,	praesidium - garrison; protection, defence Palatium - the Palatine Hill vigiliae (f.pl) - watchmen, the watch, patrols timor populi - the people's fear (subjective gen. - contrast Gould and Whiteley)
nihil concursus bonorum omnium, nihil hic munitissimus	concursus (4) - a (rapid) gathering (running together) omnes boni - all right-thinking people (boni is almost a technical term in Cicero) munio (4) - fortify, protect habendi senatus locus, nihil horum ora vultusque	os oris (n) - face, mouth vultus (4) - expression, features (in pl.)
moverunt? Patere tua consilia non sentis, constrictam iam	pateo (2) - lie open (for all to see) sentio (4), sensi, sensum - realize, be aware constringo (3), constrinxi, constrictum - restrain, inhibit, control (OLD 4) horum omnium scientia teneri coniurationem tuam non	coniuratio coniurationis (f) - conspiracy vides? Quid proxima, quid superiore nocte egeris, ubi	proximus - next, nearest, 'last' superior superioris - earlier; noct. super. - the night before last fueris, quos convocaveris, quid consilii ceperis, quem	convoco (1) - summon to attendance consilum capere - form a plan consilii is partitive with quid nostrum ignorare arbitraris? [2] O tempora, o mores!	nostrum is one of the genitives of nos arbitror (1) - think 2. mos moris (m) - custom (in pl. - character, morals)